

Oleon Modern Slavery Statement 2018

Introduction

Modern slavery is a crime and a violation of fundamental human rights. It takes various forms, such as slavery, servitude, forced and compulsory labor, and human trafficking, all of which include the deprivation of a person's liberty by another in order to exploit them for personal or commercial gain. Oleon has a zero tolerance approach to modern slavery and human trafficking. As such, Oleon is committed to (i) acting ethically and with integrity and transparency in all of its business dealings and relationships and (ii) implementing effective systems and controls to ensure that modern slavery and human trafficking are not taking place anywhere within either our own business or in any of our supply chains.

Our policies on slavery and human trafficking

Oleon is committed to ensuring that there is no modern slavery or human trafficking in our supply chain or any part of our business. The Avril Group's Code of Ethics presents the standards that all employees of the Avril Group are required to respect in their daily activities and their relations with others. Oleon aims to work together exclusively with suppliers that uphold the same standards and principles as Oleon with regards to ethical behavior. These standards are found in the Avril Group's Supplier Code of Conduct. The Codes comply with the law and are in line with key international standards such as the ILO Conventions, the OECD Guiding Principles, the UN Global Compact Principles and the Universal Declaration on Human Rights.

Due diligence processes for slavery and human trafficking

Oleon is aware that there is a risk that modern slavery may exist in their supply chains. Oleon has established a Supplier Code of Conduct in 2017. In 2018, a first group of strategically selected suppliers were asked to sign the Supplier Code of Conduct. In order to monitor the social and environmental performance of our suppliers, Oleon and its shareholder the Avril Group are working together with EcoVadis (www.ecovadis.com). Oleon will start monitoring a first group of its suppliers' CSR performance via EcoVadis in the course of 2019. The results of the yearly EcoVadis assessment will allow Oleon to identify areas of improvement and ask for a plan with corrective measures from our suppliers if necessary. In the years to come, Oleon will gradually ask more and more suppliers to sign the Supplier Code of Conduct and undergo the EcoVadis assessment. These suppliers will be selected based on several criteria such as location, purchasing volume, possible risk, etc. The following departments are actively involved in the suppliers' compliance program:

- o CSR
- o Legal
- o Procurement
- o Quality
- o Trading

Our effectiveness in combating slavery and human trafficking

Apart from the yearly supplier assessment, now in collaboration with EcoVadis, Oleon will also use the EcoVadis "360° Live News Monitoring" system to stay up to date of any CSR related news of our assessed suppliers. In case of a major misconduct, the assessment result of the supplier can be reviewed by EcoVadis. If necessary, Oleon can ask the supplier for a plan with corrective measures. Oleon has created a long term "Global Supplier CSR Program" to go beyond supplier CSR compliance. Further steps could include working together with suppliers on associated sustainability issues linked to their activities, life cycle assessments and joint sustainability projects.

This statement, in accordance with Section 54 of the UK Modern Slavery Act of 2015, sets out the measures Oleon has taken during the financial year ending on 31 December 2018 to fulfil our policies and commitments and ensure that modern slavery and human trafficking are not taken place in our own operations and our supply chains.

This statement was approved by the members of the Executive Committee on March 13th, 2019.
